MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

When we started the year 2020, it was with great plans to conquer, we least thought that the whole world would experience a shut-down. COVID-19 dramatically changed our lenses. We saw differently on how we should live and operate.

Rather than shutting down, downsizing our staff because of the economic meltdown that came along, the Pandemic did not move us away from our passion, we rather caved out ways that enabled us reach out to more people, and this sharpened our work, rather than moving us away from our passion, we had a new global strategy which is captured in our motto, "Linking Communities, Changing Lives."

We had the privilege of seeing our humanitarian response grow in 2020 as a result of our partnership with Christian Aid and our donors. We worked throughout towards reducing the secondary impact of COVID-19. Our aim throughout our field work, was to seek ways to minimize the spread of the virus, and the impact it had on the rural communities including the Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs).

Furthermore, the end SARS Protest in the country and Benue in particular have been a reminder that the marginalized groups have a voice and they could be heard. The issue of poverty and injustice leading to violence was also demonstrated in the protest. Consequently, when violence breaks out, people suffer, people die and can lead to humanitarian crises.

CLHEI is set up to touch lives and make the difference especially among the rural communities, this was our drive throughout the year 2020.

I want to thank our staff, partners, our donors, stakeholders, and board members for all the support in 2020.

CLHEI will continue to support those in communities and in need of humanitarian assistance.

Sincerely Yours:

2020 INTERVENTIONS

The year 2020 was unfeigned historic year. The pandemic dominated the international, national, state and community headlines and in perpendicular ways, changed lives. It was a year that most persons did not see it coming the way it did, an unimaginable one year. The news in the airways included many deaths, completes shot-down that lead to a melt of economic resources, uprising in Gender Based Violence especially in rape cases, increase in unemployment and hunger. People living in the communities were worst hit especially when the spread of COVID-19 became communal. Information of the spread was concentrated on electric, social and public press media, leaving out the vulnerable groups especially the Blind. While the world saw reasons to resign, CLHEI saw opportunities. Interventions around the vulnerable people became top, COVID 19 sensitization were carried out house to house, in communities, churches and some selected Local Government areas. In Benue State, a health emergency response team was constituted with some CSOs as members with various technical responsibilities shared to support government preventive and spreads mitigation drives. CLHEI is a member of the technical committee and also responsible for strategic communication in the year 2020, CLHEI activities and international days were celebrated, all these were accomplished through partnerships, Donors and the Board of trustees (BOT).
